The Cell Revolution: Dental Stem Cells-Sources and Therapies, and the Dental Professional

Learning Objectives:

- Identify common sources of stem cells in the body
- Discuss current controversies associated with and the current state of stem cell research
- Describe methods of stem cell recovery, and their associated advantages and limitations
- Identify and describe the characteristics of embryonic and adult stem cells
- Compare the characteristics of dental stem cells with other adult stem cells in the body
- Describe potential uses of stem cell therapies in regenerative medicine
- Discuss the role of the dental professional in helping patients bank their dental stem cells

The California Dental Hygienists' Association (CDHA) is proud to announce they have entered into a collaboration with the California Dental Association (CDA) for the student table clinic competition.

Prescription Drugs and Herbal Therapies: Practice Management Considerations for Dental Professionals

Course Objectives:

- Describe how to perform a comprehensive pharmacologic history review, which includes the assessment of the client's use of over-the-counter, prescription and herbal medications
- Identify prescription drugs and herbal supplements that cause an increased risk for bleeding, xerostomia, oral infection, adverse taste and alterations in oral soft tissues
- Describe risk reduction strategies for preventing dental drug interactions and managing oral complications associated with prescription and herbal drug use in medicated patients
- Identify common herbs found in oral care products and their purported mechanisms of action
